WHAT OUR CUSTOMERS ARE SAYING ABOUT BREAKBULK EUROPE

Beatriz Alvarado,
Sales and Chartering
Director, Kaleido
Logistics
EXHIBITOR | SPAIN

We've been attending the exhibition for more than 15 years now, and it's the way to meet our existing customers and getting to know other people who we might not be doing business with currently, but maybe in the future. The exhibition this year for us has been quite successful I must say - very crowded, a lot of attendance and very interesting contacts. So, we are ready to come next year.

This event holds a special place in our calendar, as it seamlessly combines networking, education, and new client acquisition. The opportunity to connect with industry professionals, gain knowledge and expand our client base is an invaluable experience. Breakbulk Europe is an event that we eagerly anticipate year after year. It is with certainty that we commit to attending this event in the future, as we recognise its continued relevance and the benefits it brings to our business.

EXHIBITOR | UK

Breakbulk Europe never fails to provide us with an abundance of new connections and exciting business opportunities. This event stands alone as the perfect platform for expanding our relationships with other ports, agencies, and forwarders. It serves as a meeting of minds, where industry professionals come together to exchange ideas, showcase their products and services, and gain valuable insights into the breakbulk sector as a whole.

Prasann Venkataraman,
Head of Business Development,
Goodrich
EXHIBITOR | UAE

The significance of this event has proven to be substantial, thanks to its exceptional platform that brings together individuals from across the globe to share ideas. In addition to meeting manufacturers and EPC professionals, we have had the opportunity to showcase the strength of our container fleet, which holds great value for attending brokers and forwarders. These three days have been immensely fruitful in terms of networking, fostering meaningful connections and expanding our reach within the industry.

Amanda Bouin,
Global Senior Director
of Energy, Geodis
EXHIBITOR | FRANCE

There are a multitude of compelling reasons why we attend Breakbulk Europe. Foremost, it provides an exceptional platform for fostering meaningful customer and stakeholder engagement. The event facilitates productive interactions, enabling us to connect with clients and stakeholders on a deeper level, building stronger relationships. Moreover, it offers unique and valuable special events, such as the Women in Breakbulk breakfast. This gathering offers a rare opportunity to gain insight into the challenges faced by others in the industry while fostering a supportive environment. It creates a space where women can engage meaningfully with one another, promoting collaboration, knowledge sharing, and empowerment, ultimately enhancing professional growth and camaraderie among women in the field.
